Safety Recommendation:

The General Aviation Safety Council of Ireland (GASCI) should consider promulgating advice that general aviation pilots should record fuel quantity prior to each flight.

Response:

GASCI informed the AAIU by letter dated 19 December 2013 that it had reviewed the IAA Safety Leaflet G/A7 "Fuel Starvation/Fuel Exhaustion" dated 13th November 2013 (attached) and found that this safety leaflet adequately addresses the core issues raised in the recommendation.

Accordingly GASCI has decided that another GASCI safety leaflet on this subject would be surplus to requirements, however, GASCI will assist in the dissemination of the IAA Safety Leaflet within the general aviation community via GASCI members, as well as using the GASCI website www.gasci.ie and GASCI Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/gasci.ireland>.
