Response:

On 01 February 2022, and in subsequent engagement with the AAIU, the Operator provided the following response to this Safety Recommendation:

"A number of documents that were historically locally managed are now under the remit of the central flight standards organization and document control is managed centrally.

In relation to Ireland specific documents such as the Landing Site Directory and FMS Route Guide, these documents, along with the documents under the control of flight standards, are available to all crew on the Logipad/Electronic Flight Bag (EFB) which is updated twice daily so that the latest revision of each document is readily available to all crew with older revisions archived accordingly."
